

Curriculum Development & Learning Environment: Focuses on the creation, evaluation, and enhancement of educational programs and the physical, digital, or social spaces in which learning takes place. This track may cover a broad spectrum of topics related to improving educational quality, student engagement, and teaching practices.

Advocacy & Public Policy: The Advocacy & Public Policy in Education conference track focuses on the intersection of education, public policy, and advocacy efforts aimed at shaping the future of education systems statewide. This track will delve into the role of policymakers, advocacy groups, and educators in influencing education policies.

Behavioral Guidance & Strategies: The Behavioral Guidance & Strategies in Education conference track focuses on evidence-based approaches to understanding, supporting, and guiding student behavior in educational settings. This track will explore practical strategies for creating positive behavioral outcomes, enhancing emotional well-being, and fostering a supportive learning environment.

Children with Exceptionalities & Early Intervention: The Children with Exceptionalities & Early Intervention conference track focuses on the identification, support, and development of young children with exceptional needs, including developmental, physical, emotional, and cognitive challenges.

Family Engagement & Support: The Family Engagement & Support in Education conference track focuses on building strong, supportive partnerships between families and educational institutions to enhance student success. This track emphasizes the critical role of families in a child's educational journey and explores strategies for fostering positive collaboration, communication, and engagement between educators and families.

Language & Literacy: The Language & Literacy in Education conference track focuses on the development and enhancement of language and literacy skills, in early childhood. This track explores effective teaching strategies, interventions, and research-based practices for fostering reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills in diverse learning environments.

STEAM: The STEAM in Education conference track explores the integration of Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics to foster innovation, creativity, and critical thinking in early education.

Leadership: The Leadership in Education conference track focuses on empowering current and aspiring leaders to create positive, impactful changes in schools and educational institutions. This track emphasizes the development of leadership skills that support academic excellence, organizational growth, and the well-being of both students and educators.

Active Learning: Movement, Play & Physical Development: The Active Learning, Movement, Play and Physical Development conference track explores how hands-on, engaging experiences support whole-child development in early education. It highlights how movement and play foster critical thinking, problem-solving, collaboration, and self-regulation, while promoting physical health, confidence, and overall well-being through meaningful, developmentally appropriate learning opportunities.

Spanish Sessions: The Education for Spanish-Speakers focusing on strategies, tools, and best practices to support early education.

Commercial Products & Services: The Commercial Products & Services in Education conference track focuses on the role of educational products, services, and technologies in enhancing teaching, learning, and administrative practices across educational settings. This track will explore innovative tools, platforms, and resources that address the evolving needs of educators, students, and centers.